

BARRON COUNTY HISTORICAL SOCIETY and Pioneer Village Museum

The BARRON COUNTY HISTORICAL SOCIETY is a nonprofit organization established in 1960. Pioneer Village Museum was developed to accomplish the society's mission to preserve the history of Barron County. The Historical Society's Pioneer Village Museum located near Cameron, Wisconsin has a collection of thirty-seven (37) plus buildings and structures, some dating back to the 19th century that house, display, and preserve historical artifacts.

Society expenses incurred primarily for museum operations are paid from membership fees, donations, memorials, museum admission fees and county contributions. Volunteers contribute their time and talents to operate and maintain the museum. Contact the Museum Director or go to the society web site to learn more about unlimited volunteer opportunities. BARRON COUNTY HISTORICAL SOCIETY membership and participation in Pioneer Village Museum activities will help to continue the preservation of Barron County History. Members have voting privileges, Society Newsletter access and 10 % museum gift shop discounts. Membership fees and donations are tax deductible.
